Rights of Women in Islam

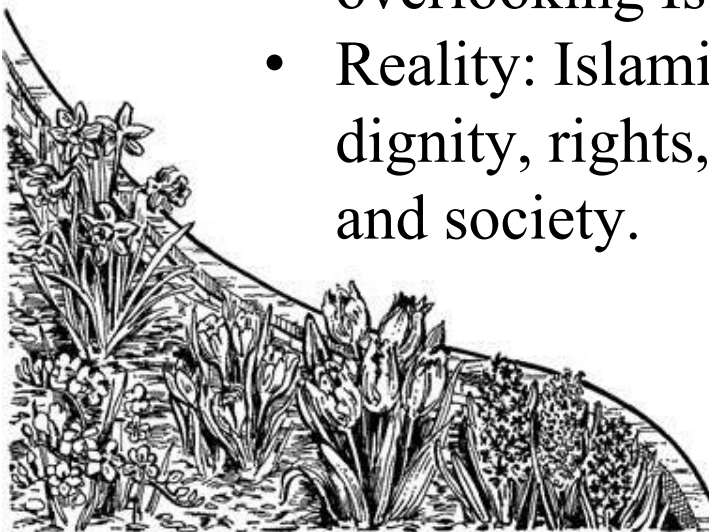

MLO 10.1.7

Explaining the roles and rights of women in Islam, highlighting their spiritual, educational, economic, familial, and societal contributions, and contrasting them with women's treatment in Western contexts.

Status and Rights of Women in Islam

- Equal opportunity for worship and righteousness.
 - Important role in nurturing and raising children.
 - Right and encouragement to seek knowledge.
 - Right to own property, earn, and manage wealth.
 - Participation in community affairs and leadership.
 - Misconception: Western views sometimes portray Muslim women as universally oppressed, overlooking Islamic rights and protections.
 - Reality: Islamic teachings recognize women's dignity, rights, and valuable contributions to family and society.
