The Introduction to Quran

MLO 5.1.1

Explaining the meaning of Wahi and its forms as divine revelation sent to Prophet Muhammad (PBUH).

Sources of Acquiring Knowledge

There are three primary sources of knowledge:

- The Senses: We gain knowledge through seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling, and other physical experiences.
  - Logical Reasoning: We acquire knowledge by thinking, understanding, and drawing logical conclusions.
  - Divine Revelation (Wahy): Allah provides knowledge beyond the limits of human senses and reasoning, such as knowledge of the Hereafter and Taqdeer.

Two Kinds of Revelation

- Wahy Matloo: Recited revelation that is worshipped through its recitation. The Holy Quran is the primary example.
  - Wahy Ghair Matloo: Revelation that is not recited as an act of worship but comes from Allah. The teachings and guidance of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) preserved in Hadith, are an example.

What is Wahi?

- Wahi means to give a message secretly or convey a signal.
  - In Islamic terminology, Wahi is the Divine Word revealed by Allah Almighty to His Prophets (AS).
  - It was the main way Allah communicated His guidance to the Prophets.

Forms/Modes of Wahi

- Bell-like sound: A difficult form of revelation for Prophet Muhammad (PBUH).
  - Angel in human form: Jibril (AS) appeared as a man.
  - Jibril (AS) in his original form: The Prophet (PBUH) saw him in his original form.
  - Direct conversation with Allah: This occurred during Mi'raj.

Another Form of Wahi

- Jibril (AS) could convey Allah's message without appearing physically.
  - The message was placed directly into the heart of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH).
  - Wahi guided the Prophet (PBUH) in conveying Allah's commands and teachings to humanity.
